

Owlets Finish Season by Losing to Cubs

The 1959 Rice Owlets, one of Aggie fish and Del Mar, one of the most surprising teams in conference freshman play, finished out their season Thursday, losing to the Baylor Cubs. This left the Slimes with a season record of two wins and three losses, and a fourth place finish in the Southwest conference freshman loop.

The Owlets, who defeated the the nation's finest junior college teams, were not expected to have a well-rounded team, as Rice concentrated on recruiting backs and consequently failed to have much depth in the interior line. In fact, the Slimes had only ten men between the ends on the entire 35 man squad.
